MR. CHARLES A. PLATT is a brilliant young American etcher who worked with energy, strong individuality, an eye for the beautiful and great artistic taste. An amateur can easily pick the clear and striking prints by Platt out of a collection (ours, for instance), without looking for the name. His work has simplicity, harmony, and breadth and unity of effect. He knows exactly what he wants to do, and how to surely do it.

Attached by Footpads.
James Hickey, twenty-two years of age, was arrested last night for attempting to snatch a pocket-book from Mrs. John W. Kern, on North Illinois street, between 6 and 7 o'clock. A little after 10 o'clock Deputy United States Marshal, Hart was held up by two men, on Fort Wayne avenue, between Alabama and Delaware streets, and on refusing to empty his pockets he was beaten over the head and back. He also hurt his hand in defending himself. His condition was such that he had to be assisted to his home, 162 East St. Clair street, where his injuries were attended to by Dr. Furman.

Personal and Society.
Miss Rachel Pray has taken charge of the Temperance lunch-rooms.
Mrs. Ida A. Harper, of Terre Haute, is in the city for a short visit.
Dr. E. R. Lewis will leave to-morrow for New York to be absent a week or ten days.
Mrs. A. Boice, who has been spending several months in the South, has returned home.

Miss Margaret Baldwin is the guest of Miss Josephine Robinson, on East Michigan street.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Winters, of Columbus, are spending a few days in the city with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. McConnor, of Oaklawn, Ia., are the guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Benton.

Mrs. Thomas Barbour, of Richmond, Va., is expected here next week to visit Mrs. James Morrison and mother, Mrs. Barbour.

Mrs. Braden and Miss Milten, of Crawfordsville, are guests of Mrs. Agnes Blair and Mrs. Harold Taylor, on North Delaware street.

Mr. Thomas Beatty, who has been in California for some years, is visiting his sisters, Miss Beatty and Mrs. Morris. Mr. Beatty will leave in a few days for New York.

Miss Bertha Fahley, entertained the Cooking Club of the Classical School, of which she is a member, very pleasantly, last evening, at her home on North Meridian street.

To-day will be children's day at the art exhibit. A number of ladies of the Art Association will be present to assist the young people in the understanding of the pictures.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to John W. Sparks and Nora A. Blair, Charles M. Hammond and Lulu Byrnes, Isaac Humphreys and Julia Farmer, J. C. Nestel and Lena Walters, Etria Brady and Myrtle Brumley.

Invitations have been issued by the ladies of Meridian-street Church for a reception to Miss Marion Sterns, of Springfield, Mass., who is reading "Little Lord Fauntleroy" for the entertainment.

At the recent Froebel anniversary entertainment given for the children of the kindergarten, there were over eighty who did not receive the gift of candies and fruit, and two ladies have arranged a feast for them to take place to-day at the Pearl-street school, from 2:30 till 12 o'clock, as a recompense for their disappointment. They will have just as much, but their Easter will be a little late.

Appointment of Patrolmen.
At the meeting of the Board of Metropolitan Police Commissioners, last night, special police powers were given to Alexander Haugh, at the Brush Electric-light Company's office, and to R. T. Copper, at 76 and 78 West New York street. The powers of the merchant policemen were renewed. The bonds of A. Bruce, as captain, and Edward Buscher, Henry Clifford and W. A. Joyce, as sergeants, were approved. The following were appointed to the duties of regular patrolmen: Andrew Samers, Christian Kruger, F. T. Hunter, Albert Keers, Walter Cooperider, John Wright, Samuel F. Irish and Josephus Richardson. Mr. Samers was the only Democratic member of the original force who was re-elected. Patrolman Charles Clark was made night turnkey. Bids for the building of the new patrol wagon were opened, and that of the C. H. Black Manufacturing Company, being the lowest, was accepted.

Will Get Both Appropriations.
The State Library act, and the deficiency bill passed by the last Legislature in relation to the amount of money appropriated for the use of the State Librarian seemed to conflict. The Attorney-general was asked about the matter by the Auditor of State yesterday. The deficiency bill appropriates $1,000 for buying and binding books for the library until Nov. 1. The State library act appropriates $5,000 for the same purpose, to be used between April 1, 1889, and April 1, 1890. The auditor wanted to know if the provision of the deficiency bill that the State Librarian should have $1,000 for this fiscal year, operated as a repeal or superseded the $5,000 specific appropriation for the same purpose. The Attorney-general gave it as his opinion that it does not, as the acts are accumulative. Therefore the Librarian is entitled to $6,000.

Will Be Here in a Day or Two.
Postmaster Wallace expects to receive the commissions of the chief engineer, elevator manager and janitor of the federal building to-day or Monday. He, of course, has an idea who the appointees will be, but he does not care to name them until the commissions arrive. The new force will go to work May 1.

Odd-Fellows' Anniversary.
Yesterday was the seventieth anniversary of the establishment of the Independent Order of Odd-fellows. The event was generally celebrated by the lodges throughout the State. All the Indianapolis lodges united with the lodges of Hendricks and surrounding counties in the celebration at Danville.

Important Information in Relation to Preparation of Coffee for the Table.
The old idea that the aroma or active principle of coffee passes off in the steam arising from same, and that an air-tight coffee-pot prevents this is an error, as can be shown by the simple experiment herein described.

In the first place, in preparing coffee for the table it should never be permitted to reach the boiling point, in any stage of the process, because the active principle (aroma) is destroyed by overheating, and will result in an air-tight pot as quickly as in an open pan. Therefore, in order to make a good cup of coffee, it is essential that the strength of the berry should be extracted at a lower temperature than 212 degrees Fahrenheit (the boiling point).

To accomplish this economically (and at same time preserve its nutritious properties) it is essential that the berry should be pulverized, that the strength should be extracted by what is known as the drip process, and that it should be kept below the boiling point until consumed.

To provide a means to do this Mr. C. B. Elliott has made the "Elliott Perfection Filter" Coffee-Pot. In it pulverized coffee is used (which reduces the quantity of coffee needed by one-half) and renders any foreign substance, such as eggs, etc., for clearing purposes, of no use whatever.

The next feature of this pot and probably the most important, is that the bottom is raised three-eighths of an inch above the stove, and the lower rim is perforated for the circulation of air between the stove lid and bottom of pot, which renders boiling or over-heating absolutely impossible, thus enabling you to keep the coffee hot and at the same time preserving it until it is finally used, no matter how long it may remain upon the hot range.

Another advantage claimed is that in this pot the entire process of making the coffee is completed and the beverage ready for use in one minute, and can be made at the table just as well as in the kitchen.

Thus it saves you time, coffee and eggs and provides you with the most perfect drink that can be obtained from the coffee berry.

To prove all these statements it is only necessary that you should try the following simple experiment, viz.:
Make a little coffee in this coffee-pot (as directed on the slips accompanying each pot.) When this is done take a portion of the same, put it into another vessel, set upon stove and let it remain until the first air bubbles from bottom and rise to the top, then remove from stove and compare it with the coffee remaining in this pot, both as to smell and taste.

You will find that it (the boiled sample) has undergone a complete chemical change and has been converted into a flat, or bitter, indigestible mass, not because the aroma has escaped, but because the beverage has been destroyed by over-heating.

After having tried this simple experiment he would be glad to have you submit the two samples to your family physician and obtain his opinion upon the results.

The physicians of this city would learn something new if they would call at The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, No. 4 Bates House Block, and see this experiment made. Our own reporter has witnessed it and has been convinced that the claims are true.
